A RECORD BREAKER

Monday Was the Hottest Day Ever Known in Cincinnati, 105 Degrees.

LOW HUMIDITY SAVED MANY LIVES.

The Next Warmest Day Was on June 18, 1881. When the Thermometer Reached 104.

Acting Forecaster Craig Can See No Relief for Several Days Unless Thunder Showers Should Suddenly Develop.

Cincinnati, July 23.—Monday was the hottest day in this city ever experienced. On July 10, 1881, the same registered 104. At 2 p. m. the thermometer went to 105. The thermometer went to 106.

Acting Forecaster Craig said Monday that fans and continued hot weather would be in vogue for several days. The heat was unseasonable. They will have to be local storms, however, as there are none gathering in the far west that have any likelihood of hitting Cincinnati.

At 2 p. m. the thermometer in Cincinnati was 104 degrees. "This is very low," said Acting Forecaster Craig. "The heat is actually squeezing all the moisture out of the air. Were it not for this it should look for rain. The heat is now 105 degrees."

The next hottest day was July 10, 1881, when the thermometer reached 104. On July 18, 1881, the thermometer got up to 105, and on July 7, 1871, it showed 103. The next highest was 101.

Des Moines, Ia., July 23.—The government thermometer registered 109 degrees here Monday, the highest of record. The record is 108 degrees.

The two days have been disastrous. The past two days have been disastrous to low corn except in localities which had rain recently.

HIGH TEMPERATURE.

Hot Weather Continues Throughout the Middle and Western States. With Rain.

Washington, July 23.—One hundred degree temperatures were common throughout the great corn belt Monday, according to reports to the Associated Press from various stations in Illinois, Iowa, and other states all previous heat records were smashed. There appears to be no prospect of decided relief from the heat so long as the sun continues to beat down three to four hours a day.

Amsterdam, July 23.—Former President Kruger, of the South African republic, is very depressed as the result of the death of his wife, but his health is unaffected. In the course of his work he has thrown himself into his work with more than usual energy.

Press comment on the death of Mrs. Kruger is sympathetic. The news papers do not attach any political significance to the death.

New York, July 23.—Theodore M. Bautz, secretary of the Holland society, has sent the following telegram to President Kruger:

"The Lord has been good to us. Sincerely yours, Number twelve, twenty-four, Sixty-eighth Street, Holland Society, Starin, President; Bautz Secretary."

The quotation from the Bible is as follows:

"The Lord loveth them and keepeth the Lord unto his fair sake upon thee and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lifeth up his countenance upon thee and giveth thee peace."

THE GARMENT WORKERS.

It is Said that 60,000 Men and Women Are on Strike in New York and vicinity.

New York, July 23.—It was announced at the garment makers strike headquarters Monday that 67,000 men and women are now on strike in New York, Brooklyn, and Newark.

The demands of the strikers are that they be paid no longer than 50 hours a week, receive a 30 per cent. increase in wages, and that conditions of child labor be required to give bonding assuring the proper steps were taken, the manufacturers would find the association in a conciliatory mood and ready to meet any reasonable proposition consistent with honesty. They say the talk of President Shaffer's strike is to continue until peace is secured.

THE INDEMNITY.

A Plan for the Payment By the Chinese Government Has Been Finally Adopted.

Washington, July 23.—The state department received a dispatch Monday from Commissioner of Education C. E. Merriam, announcing that a plan for the payment of the indemnity to the Chinese government finally had been adopted.

There was considerable disorder during the afternoon generally as a result of the efforts of the strikers to keep the strike going.

SAMPSON INTERVIEWED.

World Welcomes An Investigation of the Seafaring Battle Dispute By the Proper Authorities.

Boston, July 23.—Referring to MacLay's naval battle which has been won by the Society Long, an account of statements considered objectionable, Mr. Adm. Sampson, in an interview published in the Transcript Monday, said:

"In one way, possibly, I was responsible for the statements made in the history. I was then chief-in-chief of the squadron and was responsible, so far as reading the proofs goes. If the historian has taken facts from the reports to the navy department, it is well and good. I stand by first reports and official communications."

"I would welcome an investigation of this whole matter by congress or by the navy department, because I have no knowledge of its being taken."

"Sobley's first statement regarding the battle of Santiago," continued the admiral, "was moderately correct. The information given out some time afterward was not accurate. They were entirely correct in their statement that the battle of Santiago was won by the United States."

"The battle of Santiago was won by the United States, but the battle of Manila was not won by the United States. The battle of Manila was won by the United States, but the battle of Manila was not won by the United States."

CHANGE IN WATCHES.

The Ball's Eye of a Century Ago and the Modern Mechanical Timepiece.

The almost total disappearance of the old-fashioned pocket-silver watches is a source of consternation to even some watch dealers. It is practically impossible to pick up one now among them. A Chicago Tribune reporter made the rounds of the watch dealers in the city and found that the old-fashioned pocket-silver watches were not to be had for less than $100.

"It is only natural, I suppose, that these should disappear. None of these were ever very expensive," said the reporter.

The Little Rift

Within the Lute,

I have known a good couple to quarrel in the very honeymoon, about cutting up a tart; nay, I could name two who, after having had seven children, fell out and parted over the boiling of a leg of mutton. It may seem strange to those who are not married, but tell you, the best trifles can strike a man dumb for a week—but if you ever enter this state you will find that the gender sex as often express anger by an obstinate silence as an ungovernable clamor.

Those, indeed, who begin the course of life without jars at their starting out, will, in a few months, at a pitch of benevolence and affection of which the most perfect friendship is but a faint resemblance. In the most amate and indifferent things are objects of the sharpest resentment; so in a happy one, they are occasions of the deepest displeasure.

What does not offend in one we love? What does not offend in those we love? I take it, a rule of thumb, that the first step in the acquisition of a possession in favor is to acquire a prepossession in favor of each other. Each should consider the others words and actions with great indulgence, —Lady Bedford, in her book.

ERRORS OF A KING.

London, July 23.—Much gossip in America is created by the presentation to King Edward yesterday by some American ladies of the hospital ship America, committed to the care of the American Hospital for the Convalescent of the sick work a request. The King granted the medal to Queen Alexandra. It seems that the idea was opposed by a number of influential persons in the British Legation, on the ground that the King did not want the medal, but the others carried the day.

The King's action in the delegation which made the presentation is causing some comment as he thanked the American committee for their royal gift.

As it is, the British Legation is in a quandary as to what to do with the medal, and the American Legation is in a quandary as to what to do with the medal.

Walter, and others, who have been to jail and will probably get as much money for their crops as any year average. Take the whole country over in all the states, and the whole country in the United States, will probably net as much cash money for their crops as in 1903.

The drought in Fulton County has cost our people many thousands of dollars, whilst it rains world over. The amount we have lost in our produce, not in the corn, tobacco, &c., are beyond redemption. Some men will not exceed one barrel to the acre, and other poor portions will make ave-age good crop.

Indications point to a season on the part of the farmers who have been affected by the drought. This season will not be of the parson's kind, but will be of a year of crop failure, but will be a year of great baring of resources gained through a comparatively long period of agriculture.

SIN IN HIGH PLACES.

Tendency to Excuse Brilliant Faults
Because They Are Brilliant.

Dr. Talmage Says the Same Law
Ought to Be Applied to the High as to the Low-The Sacredness of Life.

[Copyright, 1884, by Louis Klipoch, N. Y.]

In this discourse Dr. Talmage shows that the tendency to excuse brilliant faults because they are brilliant, when the same law of right and wrong ought to be applied to high places and low; text, Daniel 4:32: "The same law applies to the high as to the low." Nebuchadnezzar, in his pride, was driven from men and did eat grass as oxen."

Here is the mightiest of the Babylonian kings. Look at him. He did then all his great works as his successors. Hanging gardens, reservoirs, aqueducts, palaces, all of his own planning. The bricks that are brought to-day from the ruins of Babylon have not lost their "splendor." Nebuchadnezzar, son of Nebuchadnezzar, the "king of Babylon," he was a great conqueror. He stretched forth his hand toward a nation, and it surrendered. But he plumed himself on his conquests, and littleness in his heart. Nebuchadnezzar, and compelled the people to bow down before it, and if they refused they must go through the redhot furnace, or be driven into the flames. So God pulled him down.

He was smitten with what physicians call "lycanthropy" and fancied that he was a wild beast, and he went out and pastured amid the cattle. God did not smite him with blindness, but he smote the sun in high places to remorse the transgression was wide sounding. He measured Nebuchadnezzar in high places just as he would measure the human captive.

But is not this, you know as well as I, that there is a disposition to put a halo around iniquity and if it is committed in conspicuous places and if it is wide sounding and of large proportions, then it is to be excused? There is a germ of crime in high places, and there is not a state or city or hardly a village which has not been called to look upon astounding forgery or an abounding band of cashier or president of the bank or the man who steals mortgages. I propose in carrying out the suggestion of my text, as far as I can, to scatter the fancies around us, and to show you that sin is sin and wrong is wrong, whether it be in place or low place and that it will be dealt with by that God who dealt with impaled Nebuchadnezzar.

All who preach that two kinds of God are in the world, the one of the faith of the Gospel, and the other on the morality of the Gospel, and the one is just as important as the other, for you know that in this land to-day we are bound to the teaching of the high and the commandments of the law in the churches of Jesus Christ who have no business to be there as professors of religion. They expect to be all right when they get to heaven, and to be with man. And while I want you to understand that by the laws of the law my flesh living can be justified and a mere honest life can enter into the kingdom of heaven, you must understand that unless the life is right the heart is not right. Grace in the heart and grace in the life; so we must preach sometimes the faith of the Gospel and sometimes the morality of the Gospel.

It seems to me there has not been a time in the last 50 years when this latter truth needed more thoroughly to be preached in American churches, than needs to be preached today.

A missionary in the islands of the Pacific preached one Sabbath on honesty and dishonesty, and on Monday he found his yard full of all styles of rascals, and the next day the regular religious services could be preached again. He could not understand it until a native told him: "Our gods permit us to purloin goods, but the God you told us about yesterday, the God of Heaven and earth, it seems, is against the rascals." And when he told the people that the goods that do not belong to us, and they are in the yard, and we want you to help us distribute them among their rightful owners. And if in all the public places of the city the regular religious services could be preached again.

He could not understand it until a native told him: "Our gods permit us to purloin goods, but the God you told us about yesterday, the God of Heaven and earth, it seems, is against the rascals." And when he told the people that the goods that do not belong to us, and they are in the yard, and we want you to help us distribute them among their rightful owners. And if in all the public places of the city the regular religious services could be preached again.

Now, look abroad and see the fashions that are thrown around different countries, and the way in which every man and woman has been asked has been: Should crime be excused because it is on a large scale? Is it only guilty and to be condemned of the man who steals a dollar, or is it the man who steals a million? Shall we have the penitentiary for the man who steals an overcoat from a hatrack and all Canada for a man to range in if he have robbed the bank of millions?

Look upon all the fashions that man has achieved?" Different measure has been applied to the crime of Wall street from that which has been applied to the scoundrels which have been driven to the salley.

So a peddler came down from New England many years ago, took hold of the money market of New York, flaunted his wealth in the signs of all the great, doted little men of the day of his life. Young men looked up and said: "He was a peddler in one of the monarchies of the stock market." That was the day when the evil influence of the peddler of the prostitute has been felt, and within the past few weeks he has had conspicuous visitors.

There has been an irresistible impression going abroad among young men that the poorest way to get money is to earn it. The young man of flaunting bravado says to the young man of humble apparel: "What you want is to earn it." The plain young man has hardly enough money to pay his board and has to wear clothes after they are out of fashion and deny himself all the luxuries. After he has earned it, he has a piod.

And he goes to the man who has suddenly large estate, and says he:

"Just show me how it is done." And he is shown. He soon learns, however, and although he is not at all the same kind now, he has resigned his position in the bank or the factory or the store, he has more money than he had, trades off his silver watch for a gold one with a diamond chain, and smokes better cigars and more of them. He has his hand in! Now, if he can escape the penitentiary for three or four years he will be a man of considerable wealth.

He will get political jobs, and will have something to do with harbors and pavements and docks. Now he has got so far along he is safe for perdition.

He will commit a long road sometimes for a man to travel before he gets into the romance of crime. Those are caught who are only in the prosaic stage of it. If the sheriffs and constables would only leave them alone, and not interfere with them in any way, they might not be able to steal a whole railroad.

Now, I always thank God when I am in prison, and you know sin is sin and wrong is wrong, whether it be in place or low place and that it will be dealt with by that God who dealt with impaled Nebuchadnezzar.

Mrs. Judge McAllister writes from 1217 West 33rd st., Minneapolis, Minn., as follows:

"I suffered for years with a pain in the small of my back and right side. It interfered often with my domestic and social life, and I was continually afraid that I would be cured, as the doctor's medicine did not seem to help me any.

"Fortunately a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, and a member of the Star Chapter, gave me much comfort, and I was greatly relieved.

"I took it faithfully for seven weeks and am happy indeed to be able to say that I am entirely well. The Star Chapter gave me much comfort, and I will be grateful to them for ever."

SUED THE ELKS.

Allen A. Myers, publisher of a paper at Columbus, O., called The Elk, has sued the order of Elks for $50,000. He was a member of the Columbus Lodge. He was tried on some trifling charge and acquitted. He was so pleased with the verdict that he published a paper which he was accused of violating his pledge, and was dismissed from the lodge. The court of appeals reinstated him, but the Elk grand lodge refused to recognize the decision of the court.

HAD ENOUGH OF DEBT.

[From the Atlanta Journal, June 1.]
It is very evident that the Ohio Democrats had had enough of the line on which the Democratic party made its fight last year. The records of the Convention, Resolutions and the approval by the convention show that a great change in Democratic sentiment and policy has been made. The party is now clearly determined to return to old time Democratic doctrines.

RATHER SEVERE.

The Hon. Clem J. Whitemore, when called upon to make a speech in Mayfield, solved the problem of his there in about two seconds. He stated that a general stock of goods, consisting of fifty cents worth of each article, forty cents worth of credit, and twenty-five cents worth of cash, would be like it was willing to sacrifice itself to the flames when it was covered by a three-cent postage stamp on the policy. Mr. Whitemore is at present assistant attorney-general. He should be promoted at once.—Paducah Democrat.

WHAT A MUDDY RIVER MEANS.

The delegates will be in session from the first Sunday in August, and their names sent at once to J. S. Trisman, Danville, Ky., so entertainments can be provided. It is the desire of the Convention to be entitled to ten delegates at large. All ministers are ex-officio delegates. The railroads will give reduced rates to all who desire to attend the convention.

LET THE LAW BE ENFORCED.

[Hickman Elevator-Courier, July 20.]
We are well aware that the crime of arson to Hickman's hot and cold bath is that it is time that every effort should be put forth by the good citizens in connection with the officers to see that the law is enforced.

This large class of officers, who roam the streets day by day, without visible means of support, should be called in question before they bring out much disgrace upon the fair name of our little town which has hitherto held a reputation of being so safe. The law ought to be enforced until every law breaker would be sure to find that punishment would be sure to follow his doings.

We believe that in order to keep this town until justice is meted out to the many offenders. We believe that in the full discharge of their duty, the officers will have the hearty cooperation of every good citizen white and black.

THE PRESS AND MORALITY.

The press as a whole stands committed to the defense of the great moral principles underlying our social structure. The prevailing influence of the press is also to be noted.

And indeed an honored press in a great Christian and moral nation like ours would be an impossibility. The press is the soul of a nation. To feel the morals of the people from whom it derives its support. It might be possible for an immoral paper to find a market for a time, sufficient support to enable it to live, but eventually one of two things will happen either the paper will be a success and have a large audience, or an outraged public opinion will compel its suspension.

The publisher who taught the public to read, gave him the right to run any kind of paper he chose in Chicago came unexpectedly to grief, finding himself after a short time, behind the scenes of state politics.

The great majority of papers in this country are the weekly and small dailies which circulate by subscription, or by the number of their readers.
